Backers Round Up Support For New Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders face the task today of winning support for a batch of compromise amendments aimed at cracking the long civil rights stalemate.

Key Republican and Democratic senators agreed on the compromise package Wednesday after their sixth meeting with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The next step will be an effort by the leaders to sell the proposed changes to their rank-and-file members at party caucuses—on Tuesday for the Republicans, and probably for the Democrats, too.

The big question is whether the amendments, which restrict the scope of the House bill, will make it possible to win over enough senators to invoke cloture and thus shut off the Southern oratory blocking action on the measure.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen appears to have the toughest task since he conceded he must produce 25 of the 33 Republican senators if cloture is to be achieved.

The Democratic leaders must produce either 41 or 42 of their 67 members. There are 18 Southern Democrats and one Republican—Texan John C. Tower—in the group opposed to the bill.

Assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey, the bill's floor manager, pointed out that cloture could be achieved with 41 from his side if only 99 senators vote, as seems likely. Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., is ill and is not expected to be on hand.

To impose cloture requires the votes of two-thirds of the senators present.

Humphrey said that, even if the package wins wide acceptance at the conference next week, an attempt will not be made to invoke cloture immediately.

"We will first have to take the floor and explain the amendments carefully," he said.

Humphrey said he now believes that the amendments would be offered in the form of a substitute for the entire House-passed bill. This would have the advantage of acting on them with one vote.

The Southerners have demonstrated their ability to prevent any votes they do not agree to. And today—the 55th day of debate—they had orators ready to continue on a team led by Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala.

Dirksen declined to go into details of the final agreements on the package.

Home-Owners Face 'Smoke-Out'

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Lima sewer department sleuths are planning next week to "smoke out" home-owners who connect roof gutters and down spouts to their sanitary sewers.

The scheme, Public Workers Director George L. Kruse told City Council, is to drop smoke-bombs into the sewer.

"Our people can then drive around and note homes where the smoke is seen rising out of the roof gutters," he said.

Navy's 'Shooting Stars' To Be Seen in Dayton

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton, Ohio, will be the scene next Sunday of one of the final appearances of the Navy's famed parachute exhibition team, the Chuting Stars, which is disbanding July 1.

The team of five officers and 16 enlisted men was organized in 1961 and has completed more than 7,300 jumps without serious injury. The Navy estimated that 15.5 million persons have watched the team's aerial demonstrations.

Stepup in Viet Nam Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today the United States must expand its commitments in South Viet Nam to meet a marked stepup in terror attacks by Communist guerrillas.

McNamara, who returned from Saigon this morning, conferred at the White House with President Johnson and then held a news conference at which he said the United States may have to send additional uniformed personnel to South Viet Nam.

Flanked by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, McNamara said American military and economic aid will be increased. And, he said, "It may be necessary to send additional U.S. personnel" on training missions.

McNamara said he would be meeting again with Johnson on Friday and Saturday.

The defense secretary said the Viet Cong guerrillas have "increased very substantially" their terrorist attacks on the rural populace in South Viet Nam. He said these attacks have been marked by kidnappings, murder, ambush and such atrocities as the beheading of local leaders.

McNamara said it was "absolutely essential" that the anti-Communist government of South Viet Nam counter these attacks.

He said South Viet Nam must increase "very substantially" the number of regular and paramilitary troops in its army. And he said there must be a 100 per cent increase in the number of Vietnamese pilots, backed up by additional aircraft.

Asked whether he thought the guerrilla war could be won, McNamara said "I remain personally convinced" that persistent execution of political and military plans will lead to a successful outcome.

He said victory "isn't going to come soon," however. He predicted "a long hard war" that might force reappraisal of U.S. plans to withdraw its forces in South Viet Nam by the end of next year.

McNamara was asked about the possibility of carrying the war into North Viet Nam. He replied that the type of attacks being mounted by the Communists requires counter action "on the soil of South Viet Nam." He said any military action in the north, which he declined to rule out, could only supplement moves in the south.

The defense secretary was asked about speculation that troops from Nationalist China might be sent to South Viet Nam. He declined to name any countries but said he certainly hoped "more flags" would be seen in the war zone. He said there is a particular need for medical, training and advisory personnel.

McNamara said he has received "a sympathetic response" to requests he has made to other governments for troops to be used in South Viet Nam. But he would not name the countries involved.

The House Armed Services Committee has indicated it expects McNamara to appear to discuss complaints of obsolete equipment, and to report on the general outlook of the protracted (Continued on Page Two)

Foreign Aid Bill OK Seen

Panel May Not Recommend Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's $3.4-billion foreign aid bill may come out of the House Foreign Affairs Committee today intact.

If so, this will be the first time that a President's foreign aid request has passed the first barrier on the long congressional road without being sliced at least a little bit.

This would not mean, however, that Johnson is sure to end up with the $3.4 billion he wants.

The bill now in the committee only authorizes the money. After Congress is finished with that bill, it starts work on another to appropriate the money. The big cuts—if any—would come then.

But Johnson's hopes received a firm boost Wednesday when the committee, in executive session, rejected all attempts to cut the bill. This represented a major victory in the Johnson strategy of giving Congress a bill that he said already was bare to the bone.

And the controversies that lie ahead today do not center on money cuts at all.

Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., said that the committee will take up three money items today—military assistance, the contingency fund and administration costs of foreign aid.

The big amendment pending calls for an increase of $250 million in military assistance and not a decrease. This has been proposed by Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Mich., who says that the $1 billion in the bill for military assistance is not enough.

Morgan expects less of a fight over military assistance than over a provision that gives David E. Bell, director of the Agency for International Development, authority to dismiss what he considers "marginal people" from AID's Washington headquarters.

The chairman said there is a dispute between his committee and the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee about which group should have jurisdiction over this problem.

Youth, 18, Confesses Lorain Death

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Roy Nichols, a husky, unemployed service station attendant, has admitted he used a piece of pipe to kill Eugene J. Sapolski on May 3, police reported today.

Nichols, 18, charged with first-degree murder, pleaded guilty Wednesday in Municipal Court. He is being held without bond and his case probably will be taken before the grand jury in two weeks, said Assistant Prosecutor John B. Otero.

Sapolski, 34, was found dead in his own back yard.

Police said Nichols told them the following story:

He went to Sapolski's home about 1 a. m. to steal the battery from his car. Sapolski noticed the hood open and came outside. Nichols jumped up, lost his balance and fell to the ground. He grabbed a piece of pipe and hit Sapolski several times. Then he threw the pipe, and gloves he was wearing, into a ditch.

Police found the gloves Wednesday and are searching in three feet of water for the pipe.

Rival Factions Grow Optimistic As Lodge Slips in Oregon Polls

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Three Republican presidential contenders make final pleas by proxy for Oregon primary votes today while Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller winds up his non-stop campaign asking: "What do the absent advocate?"

That was the New York governor's theme as the six-way presidential primary battle boiled toward a showdown at the polls Tuesday.

He drummed it as public opinion pollsters reported other candidates are narrowing the Oregon margin they credit to Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in South Viet Nam.

"I'm very encouraged," Rockefeller said Wednesday. "Lodge is down in the polls. I'm optimistic. Things are getting better."

George Cabot Lodge, son of the favored ambassador who was the 1960 Republican choice for vice president, hurried to Oregon to declare his father would answer "with force and clarity" if the party called upon him to head its 1964 ticket.

Oregon allies of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater talked optimistically of their men's chances.

Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine also are on the GOP ballot. They have staged no campaigns.

Rockefeller has spent a month courting Oregon Republicans. With the primary a few hours away, two of his children—Ann Pierson and Rodman C. Rockefeller, both of New York City, came to Portland Wednesday night.

Goldwater's sons Barry Jr. and Michael have been the anchor men of his campaign here. The senator himself has not been in Oregon since April 7. He canceled later campaign trips, saying he had to stay in Washington because the Senate was busy with the civil rights bill.

In a nationwide television address beamed to six Oregon channels Wednesday night, Goldwater said the United States should take the lead in applying economic and political pressure "to change the Communist plan."

"I think we ought to use every peaceful means available for calling freedom's tune," he said.

Goldwater said in Philadelphia earlier he sees "a surge now for Nixon" in the battle for the GOP nomination. But the Arizona senator said he expects to win it on the second ballot at San Francisco.

Texas Town Rounding Up Rattlesnakes

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—Residents of this lower Rio Grande Valley town were jittery today at the thought of 10 to 20 hungry rattlesnakes wandering near schools in town.

An estimated 25 to 35 of the reptiles were released from a box Wednesday — apparently as a joke — and only 15 were killed in a massive snake hunt which lasted until 1 a. m. and was resumed at dawn.

Roger Miller, an Edinburg mechanic, was collecting the snakes to sell to a Laredo firm which pays 75 cents a pound.

Miller kept the snakes in a wood box placed in an old car body. He discovered when he returned from work Wednesday someone had pried the top off the box. The snakes had escaped out a window of the car he left cracked for ventilation.

"One was crawling out the window, and another was wrapped around the headlight when I came out," he said. "I killed them, but the rest of them were gone."

Police, volunteer firemen and area residents joined the hunt. By 10 p. m., more than 150 persons were searching, with flashlights, guns, sticks and two-way radios.

Police Chief Leroy Easton expressed concern for students. Miller's home is across the street from Pan American College, and is near two public schools.

Cambridge Still Tense

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — The third showdown in three days between racial demonstrators and National Guard troops in Cambridge ended tensely but without violence or arrests.

More than 100 integrationists marched through the streets singing freedom songs Wednesday night. They dispersed 20 minutes later after twice meeting with guardsmen poised with bayoneted rifles.

Several hours later, however, tension grew as about 150 Negroes and 300 white residents gathered on opposite sides of a phalanx of troops at an intersection.

A dozen or so bottles were thrown, breaking in the street. No one was injured. Eventually, both crowds drifted away—the Negroes urged to disperse by their leaders, the whites by the guardsmen.

Sheriff Requests Recount of Ballots

Pickaway County Sheriff Walton W. Spangler today announced he would request a recount of ballots for the office of sheriff in the Democratic primary.

The official count of the board of election gave Dwight Radcliff a margin of 36 votes over the incumbent Spangler.

Spangler stated he was calling for the recount after careful consideration. He indicated he would have all 53 precincts recounted.

"Many of my supporters in the election have urged me to ask for the recount. I feel it is only fair to do so at this time."

THE RACE for the Democratic nomination was hotly contested and it was not until the final precinct had reported on election night that the nomination was decided.

Supporters of Spangler have pointed out that a change of only 19 votes in the 53 precincts in the county could swing the election in his favor.

In order to call for a recount, $10 for each precinct recounted must be deposited to cover the cost. For the entire county a total of $530 will have to be deposited.

The recount may be halted at any time by Spangler. In such case, the money deposited for the precincts not counted would be refunded, according to a spokesman for the Pickaway County Board of Elections.

The spokesman stated Spangler had until Monday to file an application for the recount. The board must then conduct the recount within 10 days.

Each candidate involved must be notified by the board five days in advance of the beginning of the tabulation.

SHOULD the vote change by two per cent or more in any recounted precinct, the deposit will be refunded.

The candidates may have legal representation during the recount. However, state statute specifically states the ballots may be handled only by members of the Board of Elections, the clerk or other legally employed personnel.

LBJ, HST Slated At Solon's Rites

ELSBERRY, Mo. (AP)—President Lyndon B. Johnson and former President Harry S. Truman are scheduled to attend funeral services today for U.S. Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo.

Cannon died Tuesday of a heart attack at the age of 85. He had been chairman of the House Appropriations Committee since 1941 with the exception of two terms. Cannon had been in Congress 41 years.

Services will be held in the Baptist Church at Elsberry, a town of 1,500 persons. Cannon will be buried next to his parents in the Elsberry cemetery.

A delegation of 43 U.S. representatives and staff members of the House Appropriations Committee are scheduled to attend the services.

Once Around Roundtown

SGT. TURNEY ROSS and Patrolman Jack Mills were busy today placing markers at the graves of several deceased police officers buried in Forest Cemetery.

This special tribute is part of the local department's observance of National Police Week.

The markers were placed at the graves of George Green, Fred Fitzpatrick, Elmer Merriam, William McCrady and John Lockard. All had been members of the local Fraternal Order of Police, the organization that purchased the markers along with the Fraternal Order of Police Associates.

City offices will conduct special Memorial Service starting 2 p. m. tomorrow for all deceased policemen here. The event will be conducted at the cemetery.

U.S. Tightens Curb on Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department announced today it is placing an embargo on the sale of food and medicine to Cuba.

The order means that every item sent to Cuba from the United States will have to receive government approval. The only exception will be gift parcels.

It was disclosed Wednesday that Cubans have approached U.S. companies about the possible purchase of millions of dollars worth of drugs.

The department said the order requiring specific export licenses for shipments of food and medicines "does not mean that such shipments are precluded, but that the department wishes to be informed of all intended trade with Cuba and thereby be in a position to act according to the national interest of the United States. Each decision will be made in the light of all relevant circumstances."

Exiles Planning More Raids

Cubans Hoping To Oust Castro

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Exile forces say their attack on a sugar mill and port in eastern Cuba is just the beginning in their war of sabotage and nerves aimed at toppling Fidel Castro's Communist regime.

The Revolutionary Recovery Movement, a military action group, said in its "first war communique" Wednesday that a combined raid by seaborne commandos and guerrillas already in the hills gained control of the port of Pilon for three hours and left the sugar mill burning. It said other raids would come soon.

Prime Minister Castro in a statement acknowledged the attack, but said it came from a ship standing at sea and not from ground forces.

Castro's angry comment was broadcast by Havana Radio about 15 hours after the attack, which the exiles said took place at 3:50 a. m. Wednesday.

The communique did not give the number of the attacking force but listed commandos, frogmen, combat engineers, signal corps and torpedo units, as well as guerrillas, as participants.

The exiles claimed they suffered no losses but said there was "tenacious fighting" with "a numerically superior Communist army." A spokesman for the invaders said Castro forces suffered considerable losses.

While commandos held Pilon, said the communique, engineers set off demolition charges at the mill, then withdrew. Guerrillas returned to the hills, the exiles said. Some townspeople in the area welcomed the attackers, they added.

Castro said the U.S. government, "not satisfied with the economic blockade and other aggressions, is using mercenaries and traitors" to carry out acts of vandalism.

The U.S. State Department denied it.

Castro said the attack caused loss of 70,000 bags of sugar (of 220 pounds each), that many houses of workers were strafed and that a woman and an 8-year-old girl were wounded.

Manuel Artime, head of Revolutionary Recovery Movement, accompanied Wednesday's raiders, the organization said. He was one of 1,100 prisoners of the Bay of Pigs invasion who were released in exchange for the $53-million ransom.

Gitmo To Get New Desalting Boiler

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The first of three huge boilers to be used in a water desalting process at the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, was hoisted aboard a Norwegian ship here today.

The nearly 100-ton assembly, including a 90-ton boiler, was manufacturing by Wickes Boiler Co. of Saginaw, Mich., and brought by rail to the port here.

The boiler, which measures 44-by-16-by-13 feet, is the largest item in size ever loaded here. There have been heavier cargoes lifted by the gantry crane at the port facility on the Maumee River.

Stolen Beer Trucked In Baby Carriages

ROME, N.Y. (AP)—A policeman stopped two men pushing baby carriages at 5 a. m. Wednesday and discovered five cases of beer in the vehicles. The men admitted, police said, that they had stolen the beer Tuesday from a grocery store and hoped to avoid suspicion by using the baby carriages to transport it.

Lawsuit Claims Contract Violated

Harold Hott, owner of the local Hott Music Co., has filed a suit against the present and a former proprietor of Del's Tavern, South Bloomfield.

Defendants of the suit are Delmar R. Shade and Edith Boice. Records show Shade sold the tavern to Edith Boice in July 1963.

Hott is seeking $3,000.00 that he claims is due him through a five-year contract for vending machines that he placed in the tavern.

The petition alleges that the defendants are in violation with the terms of the contract which was to net Hott three cents for each package of cigarettes sold through the vending machine, in addition to 50 per cent of money collected from phonograph equipment.

ed war in the Southeast Asian country.

McNamara was asked by newsmen how long he thinks the war will last.

He replied that it will be "a long war, a hard war—the path to victory will be long."

He said, however, that "I firmly believe that persistent execution" of plans will lead to eventual success.

The Pentagon chief also told newsmen plans are being developed to more than double the personnel of the Viet Nam air force in a few months.

The Vietnamese air force now has about 400 pilots.

To another question, McNamara replied that the size of the U.S. training force in Viet Nam is sufficient at the present, but that if more men are needed to help in the expansion of the ground and air forces and train them, the men can be sent.

McNamara said he and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, discussed with U.S. officials in Viet Nam the program of replacing the present T38 and B26 planes with the Navy-designed Skyraider aircraft.

McNamara said the types of planes sent to Viet Nam were chosen for two reasons — because they would be useful in the guerrilla type war; because they were intended for operation by the Vietnamese.

Returning with McNamara were Taylor and Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs.

This was McNamara's fifth trip to Viet Nam.

Crippled Jet Plunges Into Homes; 5 Are Killed

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Five persons died when an F105 fighter plane plunged into a new housing development where housewives were hanging out laundry and children were playing on a sunny afternoon.

Moments after takeoff Wednesday from nearby Nellis Air Force Base, the jet lost altitude, wavered and then knifed into the tract. The plane exploded, spewing flames over a wide area. Seven dwellings were destroyed.

Five blocks away, 800 children were attending classes in Lincoln Elementary School. They were not endangered.

The plane plummeted to earth at the far edge of the development, just short of a cleared area the pilot was fighting to reach.

The dead:

1st Lt. Raynor L. Hebert, 26, pilot, of Port Arthur, Tex.; Betty Lou Le Dane, 31, and her daughter, Teresa, 3; two children of the Paul Lowry family, Derwent, 3, and Josephine, 3 months. Aside from Hebert, all were residents of the tract.

Two weeks ago, in an interview, Brig. Gen. Boyd Hubbard, Nellis commander, had warned contractors that building homes close to the air base was "court-martying disaster." The development is seven miles away but in the path of runways, those on the scene said. Its homes are in the $15,000 price range.

Authorities evacuated a 20-square-block area upon learning the plane carried six small practice bombs and 1,000 20 mm cannon rounds.

Hebert, an Air Force spokesman said, was on an air-to-air gunnery practice mission. The first hint of trouble was Hebert's report to the control tower that his landing gear would not retract, the spokesman said.

He was instructed to head for a desert area near Las Vegas, but replied that he was at only 1,000 feet and added, "I can't hold my altitude."

Then he was told to head for a clear area, just beyond the tract. He couldn't quite make it. The pilot had no opportunity to jettison his fuel.

"When they're heavy like that," said Gen. Hubbard, "they sink pretty fast. They glide like a brick."

Republican Solons Scoff About Lady Bird's Tenants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Republican congressmen, who visited six tenant families on Alabama land owned by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, called today for President Johnson to "put your houses in order" before preaching an antipoverty program.

The two, Reps. Dave Martin of Nebraska and M. G. Snyder of Kentucky, said they visited Mrs. Johnson's property in Augusta County last weekend at the expense of the Republican Congressional Committee.

"We saw people living in deplorable poverty, with little evidence of concern by their millionaire landlords," Snyder said.

"If I owned property like that," Martin said, "I would believe it was my moral obligation to build decent housing."

The White House said Wednesday that several elderly families occupy tenant houses on Mrs. Johnson's land.

Elizabeth Carpenter, the First Lady's press secretary, told reporters Mrs. Johnson inherited 2,800 acres occupied at one time by some 20 tenant families, most of whom have moved to cities or died.

"Mrs. Johnson's lawyers advised her several years ago to put all 2,800 acres of Alabama land into the money crop—pine trees," Mrs. Carpenter said.

"But she did not do so, preferring to let the remaining elderly families, who occupy three houses there, to stay. They pay $5 a month rent and use some of the land to raise cotton and corn."

"Most of the families are very elderly and have no place to go. They want to stay there. She is really making it possible for them to live out their days at $5 a month and she sends them boxes of clothes."

Both Martin and Snyder, members of the House Education and Labor Committee, told a news conference they oppose the antipoverty bill now before the committee.

Judge Is Accused Of Drunk Driving

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—A Madison County Common Pleas Court jury may begin deliberations today in the case of Probate Judge Charles Crabbe, accused of driving while intoxicated.

The defense indicated it would call two more witnesses before resting its case.

Wednesday's presentation by the prosecution included the testimony of former West Jefferson patrolman Robert Bogart who arrested the judge in that community April 11. He said Crabbe's car was weaving from side to side. He added that Crabbe declined to take a sobriety test.

Ike Refuses To Tag Republican Candidate

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said today he will not attempt to dictate a choice for the Republican presidential nomination, nor try to block any of the most prominently mentioned candidates.

"I, by no means, believe that it is proper for me to say 'This is the man,' and expect all the Republicans, just like a herd of sheep, to run that way," Eisenhower said.

Shakespeare went to London for a career as actor and playwright in about 1588.

Man Is Found Mysteriously Slain

CLEVELAND (AP)—Robert Fulton, a self-employed interior decorator, was found stabbed to death early today. He was seated behind the wheel of a car in the middle of an east side street.

The car's engine was running, windshield wipers were operating and the lights were on.

Two passing motorists found Fulton, 53. At first they thought he was asleep. The car was blocking the street. Police said Fulton's right shoe was missing and he had a head wound. The rear seat of the car was covered with blood.

The program at the next meeting will be a film on cancer from the County Cancer Society.

Jurors Get Invite To 'Sin' a Little

MOUNT VERNON, Wash. (AP)—A prospective jury received a summons to appear for duty in Skagit County Superior Court, and with it was this memo:

"Come a little early and sin (sic) up at the clerk's office."

All the embarrassed deputy clerk who made the typographical error could say was: "Oh, gee."

A woman from Cherryville, N. C., apparently ill, was being held here today pending the arrival of relatives to return her home.

City police identified her as Mrs. Beatrice Crotts, 39. She was brought to Berger Hospital yesterday by a woman motorist who had picked her up.

Officers said she told hospital officials she felt ill and was unable to remember much since leaving North Carolina. Investigating officers Sgt. Leroy Hawks and Patrolman Richard Blaney later learned that Mrs. Crotts had driven her car to Bluefield, W. Va., then hitchhiked rides on north. These details were learned by contacting police in the woman's hometown.

A sister who lives in Far City, N. C., is scheduled to travel here to pick up Mrs. Crotts and return home with her.

NATO Ministers Head Off Greece-Turkey Conflict

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—The North Atlantic pact foreign ministers today headed off a potential conflict between Greece and Turkey, but they failed to heal differences between France and the other members on the future of NATO.

In winding up their spring session they pledged their best efforts at ending the cold war with the Soviet Union. Yet they noted in their official communiqué that little progress could be expected unless the Soviets permit the reunification of Germany on a basis of self-determination.

The ministers promised they would speak more freely and more frankly to one another in the future in an effort to remove misunderstandings and thus bolster the NATO system.

"Every suitable opportunity should be taken to bring nearer to realization the wish of the German people for reunification in freedom," their communiqué said.

This is an oft-repeated aim of NATO, and they said again that the German problem can only be settled by the will of the German people.

Turning to the immediate problem of Cyprus, the ministers expressed concern at the Greek-Turkish Cypriot fighting and said NATO would support fully U.N. efforts to bring peace to the troubled island.

Some of the concern over Cyprus was eased earlier in the day when Greece and Turkey agreed to accept the mediation of the NATO secretary-general in their bitter dispute over the eastern Mediterranean island.

The ministers instructed NATO Secretary-General Dirk U. Stikker to act as conciliator but there was no reference to this step in the communiqué.

Officials explained that Stikker would be acting under a 1956 council resolution concerning disputes between member states of the alliance. This resolution authorized the secretary-general to keep in touch with all parties and with the permanent NATO council in such cases.

Greek Foreign Minister Stavros Kostopoulos agreed to mediation on condition that it would not be confined to the Cyprus dispute but would cover all phases of Greek-Turkish relations. Greece is upset by recent Turkish seizure of the property of Greek nationals living in Turkey and expulsion of a number of them.

Turkish Foreign Minister Feridun Cemal Erkin had accepted a mediation role for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Wednesday. But Kostopoulos until today had argued that the Cyprus dispute was not a NATO matter, the position held by President Makarios of Cyprus.

The agreement avoided a major crisis in the alliance. The festering quarrel between NATO's easternmost members threatened to undermine the alliance's whole southeastern flank.

The agreement was reached after several ministers, including U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium and Paul Martin of Canada urged Greece and Turkey to permit NATO to act under a December, 1956, resolution covering the alliance's internal affairs.

NEW YORK (AP)—Confidence is pushing business orders and plans ahead without waiting for consumer sales to catch fire.

Many executives have their eyes on the autumn when they think the consumers will join the parade. This spring the flag is being carried by business itself.

Some firms are starting to build up inventories.

Many factories report new orders nicely ahead of a year ago. And some $50.7 billion of unfilled orders at the end of March assure busy weeks ahead.

Even the steel industry is doing some second guessing. In April it found the big late winter lull in orders leveling off. Now it reports orders for June delivery above earlier expectations.

Many mills now anticipate a much smaller dip in shipments next month than they did a few weeks back.

The auto industry will go into its usual summer slowdown for model changeovers, complicated this year by what could be more than normally heated labor negotiations.

New strength in steel orders is coming from the railroads, appliances, farm implements and construction. The metal-working weekly Iron Age says that some mills are lengthening their delivery promises because of this, although a steel shortage isn't in the picture by any means.

Also helping the steel outlook for summer is a change in imports—some are being priced higher and some foreign mills are finding larger markets at home and less urge to sell here.

Lagging retail volume in March acted as a drag on total business sales, the Department of Commerce reports. The total of manufacturing, wholesale and retail trade in March was put at $70.9 billion, compared with February's record $71 billion.

The final days of April showed a pickup, attributable in large part to better weather. And most merchants are looking for good figures in May.

It's the autumn, though, on which their expectations are being built. By then, the retail spokesmen figure, consumers will really be spending that additional $8 billion which the cut in federal income taxes was designed to give them.

Blue Yonder Has Own Lingo

By PHIL GUNBY (For Hal Boyle)

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Air Force has announced that it is encouraging as many of its people as possible to learn an additional language.

But the suggestion has been made in some quarters that the Air Force already speaks a language other than English.

As overheard at Lockbourne Air Force Base here—a giant field for bombers, transports, aerial refuelers, interceptors and fighters that support foot soldiers—this language of the blue yonder seems to be compounded of:

If he's straining to see, particularly under trying conditions, it's a matter of "eyeballs on the plexiglass" in his "little office" which, of course, is the cockpit. Now and then things get "harry." A flier may even become concerned about "buying the farm" — a fatality phrase probably acquired from the Royal Air Force.

But, when all is well once more, he sums it up in two words which might be considered the unofficial motto of Air Force confidence and typical of its unique language: "No Sweat."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Diet devotees have a great competitive spirit. Motivated by one common objective — to shed that girdle of fat — the enthusiasts for steak and eggs will battle it out with the cottage cheese and fruit crowd.

High protein, low sugar, medium fat, high fat (polyunsaturated, of course), all you want to eat, all you don't want — there seems to be no limit to the creativity of diet promoters. Each day seems to produce a new miracle diet.

Of course, there is no miraculous way to lose weight. First, you must understand why you gain weight. All food contains calories. Some, more; some, less. Your body needs calories for fuel. The more active you are, the more fuel you need.

If you consume more calories than your body needs for fuel, then you will gain weight. If you eat fewer calories, then you will lose weight. In other words, you are gaining weight because you are eating more high-calorie foods than your body requires.

With the approaching beach season, avid scale-watchers are spurred on to great efforts. The spring and summer editions of fashion magazines mercilessly show bony-framed, sunken-cheeked bathing suit models just two pages before presenting their latest "crash" diet for slimming you down.

Watch out for those "crash" diets. The results are too often as temporary and fleeting as the period of dieting itself. They can be helpful in getting you off to a good start, but if you really want to stay thin you will have to readjust your eating habits.

If you are starting to feel sorry for yourself, it will be good for your morale to hear about a recent test that was made at a university hospital.

Your unwanted pounds will shrivel at the mere thought of such a rigorous program of weight reduction.

Nine men and one woman, all very obese, volunteered to donate excess pounds to scientific research. They were put on a starvation program — yes, absolute starvation — for periods of time ranging from 12 to 117 days.

Water and vitamins were their only nourishment. You will agree that even the exquisite talents of a French chef would hardly be ingenious enough to brew a tasty dish from such a poorly stocked cupboard.

But the sacrifice was not without reward. Most of the volunteers lost about two pounds a day. One man lost 116 pounds during the period.

The scientific findings obtained from this study showed that the prolonged starvation (under the constant and strict supervision of physicians, of course) produced no serious or permanent side-effects.

Starvation programs should not be self-imposed; only a physician can select or supervise such a regime.

Overweight persons will probably not be tempted to try this way of shedding pounds. But the thought of it should make sensible dieting easier to maintain.

His mother was outraged by "so preposterous a union" because of the disparity of age and Johnson's inability to earn a living. Johnson answered his mother's tirade with, "I have not deceived Mrs. Porter. I have told her that I am of mean extraction; that I have no money, and that an uncle of mine was hanged. She replied that she valued no one for his descent; that she had no more money than myself, and that, though no relation of hers ever had been hanged, she had at least fifty who thoroughly deserved to be."

Studio Gives Party for Divorced Pair

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Where but in Hollywood would they give a party for a divorced couple?

Universal Studios Tuesday night honored Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor, co-stars in the movie thriller, "The Night Walker."

Although divorced a dozen years, "Barbara and I have remained good friends," says Taylor.

Miss Stanwyck, 56, said she was asked "if I would have any objection if Bob appeared in the picture. I said, 'Of course not — but you'd better ask Mr. and Mrs. Taylor.'"

Taylor, 52, said, "It's all right with me if it's all right with her."

The present Mrs. Taylor, actress Ursula Thiess, was asked if it was all right with her.

"Not necessarily," she said, smiling enigmatically.

Indiscriminately, with either hand.

That she can do so is a medical marvel.

It's a marvel, first of all, that she feels like throwing kisses. Maribel has been through hell—a comatose living death with half her upper torso slowly rotting from a mysterious venom.

It's a marvel that she can move one of her tiny arms as high as her lips.

And it's a marvel, of course, that Maribel is alive.

Because she is alive, Maribel is famous—a flesh-and-blood symbol of an assault by modern medicine against a rare and massive infection.

Two hundred physicians—half the staff of Childrens Hospital—mobilized their talents after Maribel Olea was flown here Oct. 15 from Yuma, Ariz.

Maribel was dying. Her heart was "in failure," as doctors say, scarcely beating. Her left chest, back and arm and lower lip were swollen and black.

Maribel's mother, Mrs. Blanca Olea, 34, told this story:

A few days earlier, at their home in San Luis 15 miles below the Mexican border, Maribel fell ill and feverish. Her left arm began to swell from a mass of small bites. Two marks appeared on her lower lip.

The attack, apparently by some insect or reptile, was not witnessed. Maribel was too young to talk about it. But Gila monsters, lizards up to two feet long, had been seen in the neighborhood. Some species are venomous.

Maribel got worse. The village doctor could do nothing except tell Mrs. Olea the child was dying.

Mrs. Olea hitched a ride to Yuma. After emergency treatment, Maribel was brought to Good Samaritan Hospital here, and later was moved to Childrens Hospital.

By that time all traces of the original venom had disappeared in the infected flesh. Whatever it was, the poison had caused blood vessels to constrict, shutting off oxygen and nutrients. Gangrene—tissue death—had set in.

Maribel was given antibiotics to fight secondary infections, blood transfusions to fight anemia, digitalis to spur her flagging heart, and food.

"She was starving," a physician spokesman says. "She ate, and ate, and ate. What an appetite."

Special nurses around the clock began a month-long task of preparing the tortured body for a series of skin grafts.

Wet bandages, changed frequently, kept the infected crust soft while new flesh formed beneath. Finally, on Nov. 15, one month after she entered the hospital, Maribel was ready for her first operation. Six more followed. X-ray therapy, to discourage growth of scar tissue, was instituted.

As her once-wasted form healed and grew plump, Maribel's spirits thrived.

"She became a little tyrant," says her day nurse, Mrs. Chrystale Maxwell. "Spoiled was no word for it. But how could you help but love her?"

Maribel learned tricks, and she learned to smile, even to laugh, when gifts came in from all over this country, Canada and Mexico.

Maribel goes home soon to San Luis to rejoin sisters Gabriella, 8, and Merna, 1, and brother Carlos, 6. Her mother works there as a waitress to support the fatherless family.

Flower Show Judges Meet At Pickaway Country Club

The Southern Ohio Region of the Ohio Judges' Council of Nationally Accredited Amateur Flower Show judges met at the Pickaway Country Club, serving as hostesses during the 10 a. m. coffee hour were Mrs. Kenneth Hannan and Mr. Theodore Huston.

Mrs. William Brooks, council president for the Southern Ohio region called the meeting to order at 10:30 a. m. Mrs. Emmitt Barnhart, first vice - president of the council and program chairman, had arranged to have a panel discussion on Rachel Carson's "Silent Spring" in the morning session and a demonstration of flower arranging by Mrs. James Jackson, Ewington, in the afternoon.

On the morning panel to discuss the current best seller were Robert Cole, local nurseryman, George Hamrick, Pickaway County Extension Agent and Herschel Hill, implement dealer. Mrs. Richard Jones served as moderator. At the close of the discussion council members asked questions.

A guest during the morning was Bill Lammell of Ashland, a Vocational agricultural student at Ohio State who is in Circleville for six weeks to observe the Pickaway County Extension practices.

Luncheon was served on the club porch to 20 people. During a short business meeting conducted by Mrs. Brooks, president, a nominating committee was elected to provide a slate of officers for the November meeting. Mrs. Theodore Huston, Circleville; Mrs. John Butler, Gahanna; Mrs. Frank Arnold, Dayton, will serve on the committee.

Mrs. Butler reported that the regional vice president, Mrs. W. C. Harrison, was to be released from the hospital in the near future. She received serious injuries when she was involved in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Carl Schmaltz, Dayton, commented on the specimen flowers. Specimens brought by council members included: iris, columbine, valley lily and a miniature rose.

Mrs. Jack Blome, Dayton discussed the merits of the two abstract arrangements on exhibit. She said it was difficult to draw a hard and fast line between abstract and tree form design.

Mrs. Jackson's demonstration included ten arrangements in both free form and abstract design. She stressed the necessity of adhering to the basic art principles in the newer design forms. The Southern Ohio Judges' Council will meet the second Tuesday in November.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

One Mother's Heartache!

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a retarded son. When he was very young, my family and my doctor tried to get me to put the boy in an institution, but I loved him so dearly I could not bear the thought of putting him away. I thought I could give him the care he needed, so I kept him at home. I didn't know how wrong it was. As the years passed, he developed normally physically, and he began to take notice of the girls. One day he grabbed a little 11-year-old neighbor girl and tried to rape her. The outcome was so terrible for our family. My boy is now in an institution, branded as a "rapist." If I had only listened to my family, this would not have happened. Please advise mothers of retarded children to learn all they can about their problem.

HEARTSICK DEAR HEARTSICK: Thank you for your letter. If it helps just one mother, it will be well worth the space it is given in this newspaper. For information regarding the problems of retarded children, write to: National Association for Retarded Children, Dep't. TW, 386 Park Avenue South, N.Y. 16, N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: How many times should you invite a couple to dinner when they have never had you back? I invited a certain couple to my home for small dinner parties on three separate occasions in this past year, and they never invited us back. I am planning another party and my husband suggested I invite this couple. I told him I would not invite them again until they returned the invitation. My husband says I shouldn't be so "touchy." Abby, these people have entertained many times that I know about, and my intuition tells me they could have invited us if they had wanted to. What do you say?

TOUCHY DEAR TOUCHY: I'll go along with your woman's intuition. Don't invite them again until they have invited you.

DEAR ABBY: Unfortunately I go to the same beauty shop as the woman who owns and manages the apartment building I live in. My problem is that this woman tells the beauty operator all my business while she gets her wash and set. It's a neighborhood shop, and many of my friends go there, too, and they all listen in while this landlady blabs all my personal business and especially about the family arguments she hears. The beauty operator not only eats it up, but pumps her for more. What can be done about this?

ANTI-BUSYBODIES DEAR ANTI: You can't shut up your landlady, but you can move. You can also find a beauty shop where the operator doesn't feast on the domestic scraps of others.

CONFIDENTIAL TO F.G.B.: Your letter was a dandy, but too long to print. I agree with you. To sum it up: "What we don't spend on education today we will spend on penal institutions tomorrow!"

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—In all the dust kicked up by the three-cornered battle of words over the television Emmy, an important television move has been obscured.

The producer of two of television's five dramatic series which are shot in New York, has picked up his staff and cast and moved to California. The shows are CBS' "The Defenders" and "The Nurses." The emergency move was forced by a strike of a local independent union of scenic and costume designers, making it impossible to continue shooting fall episodes on schedule.

The strike also halted production of CBS' new series, "The Reporter." Two other New York based series were unaffected simply because they were not in production, CBS' "Mr. Broadway," and ABC's "Patty Duke Show."

Michael Dann, CBS programming vice president, said he believed that if the New York-made shows were forced to go to California to make their programs on schedule, "it will be the end of New York production of dramatic shows."

"I think that if they have once moved out there, and get their standing sets built, it will be too expensive for them to pick up and move back again," he said.

Chuck Connors, who had contracts with Universal and Revue studios, has terminated both "by mutual agreement," as they always say.

Connors was under Revue contract for "Arrest and Trial," which recently died miserably and undeservedly in a bad Sunday night ABC time spot, and was under a seven-year contract to make one theater film a year.

Connors is an attractive, popular performer and already has interesting offers from David Susskind and Goodson-Todman, the game show people who apparently have not been discouraged by two tentative steps into the dramatic field — "The Rebel," a half-hour Western that didn't last long, and "The Richard Boone Show," an expensive casualty of this season.

Taft Urges Change in Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, proposed today a new type of domestic peace corps as an amendment to the administration's anti-poverty bill.

President Johnson's program to combat poverty is under consideration by the House Labor Committee, of which Taft is a member.

Taft said he will urge the committee to accept his amendment as a substitute for a section in the bill labeled "Volunteers for America."

Johnson has said he will appoint Sargent Shriver, now director of the Peace Corps, as head of the anti-poverty program if Congress passes the bill.

Under the Taft amendment, however, a bipartisan National Service Corps commission of seven members, appointed by the President with senate confirmation would be substituted for the "Volunteers for America" section of the bill.

The proposed commission would be separate and independent of the other portions of the anti-poverty program and would not be under the jurisdiction of the head of the program.

Under the Taft proposal, the commission would appoint a director who would select volunteers to work with those who need aid. Projects would be undertaken only at the invitation of local governmental and private agencies.

Taft said his plan gives limited and well-defined authority to an independent agency.

Food Probe Is Ok'd

Oil Drilling Firm Reports Lease Acreage

O. L. Scott Jr., an official of Haas-Lawton of Mt. Gilead, announced today his company had completed the acquisition of an initial lease block of 120,000 acres in Pickaway, Pike, Ross, Hocking and Vinton Counties.

Virgil Lewis, Route 3, is the Haas-Lawton representative in this area.

Since the initial leasing operations have been completed, three sites have been selected and wells are currently being drilled, according to Scott. The well nearest Pickaway County is just north of Kinnikinnick in Ross County.

Scott said the Haas-Lawton operation is a result of a careful geological examination of the area.

THE ACQUISITION of such a large amount of land has been a sizable project, according to Scott. As many as 15 leaseholders were employed at various times.

Title examination and preparatory work is still being carried out. Four more sites will be selected and wells started within the next 30 days, the spokesman said.

Scott indicated even though his company has already expended or had completed plans for expending several hundred thousand dollars, his firm is still desirous of procuring leases in certain indicated areas.

The first three wells drilled were contracted to Well Supervision, Inc., of Mt. Gilead.

CTA Names Officers at Yearly Meet

The Circleville Teachers Assn. held its annual dinner meeting at the Holiday Inn, Chillicothe.

Miss Elma Rains, Miss Helen Hoffman and Mrs. Virgil Cress were honored as retiring teachers. Each was presented a gift from the association.

Paul Sarchet introduced the program which consisted of a song led by Richard Fisher, Robert Ransom and David LaBounty. The trio of teachers also presented several specialty numbers.

Herbert Barrett, outgoing president, introduced the new officers of the CTA. They are: James Shaw, president; John L. Chilcote, vice president; Mrs. Pearl Drum, secretary; Mrs. Florene Heeter, treasurer.

Concluding remarks were made by Fritz Jacobs, superintendent, who expressed his appreciation to the faculty and guests present for the support of the school bond issue and for their cooperation during the current school year.

NOMINATED — Dr. Robert G. Smith of Circleville has been named one of two candidates for president-elect of the Ohio State Surgical Assn. The other candidate is Dr. Phillip W. Smith of Marion. The two Dr. Smiths were nominated at the 500-member association's annual meeting in Columbus.

Missionary Gives Views On Viet Nam

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The United States might succeed with an invasion of North Viet Nam if the invaders were Vietnamese — "not Americans with white faces," a veteran missionary says.

The missionary, the Rev. Grady Mangham Jr., of Nyack, N.Y., said Wednesday that a solution is still possible in the strife-torn nation but that it will take a strong leader.

It is "still too early to tell if (Premier Nguyen) Khanh can do the job," he said.

The Rev. Mr. Mangham, who served 15 years in what is now South Viet Nam and headed a team of 100 missionaries before returning to the United States last fall, said in an interview:

"We've got to see this thing through—not only to a stalemate but to a solution. There can be no thought of a cutback in our assistance program," he added.

He said the Vietnamese have never been convinced that they will win and that many of the policies formulated in Saigon didn't work out by the time they reached the provinces.

He said the United States "could have won the military war there with ease if we had won the war of ideas" first.

Blackstone the Magician 78 Now and Rather Tired

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The wild shock of hair is thinner, the frame seems slighter than it did when covered by satin robes. But the hands of Blackstone the magician remains as supple and steady as when they baffled audiences from coast to coast.

At 78 Harry Blackstone lives in Hollywood and still keeps in touch with his magical art. "I'm not retired—just tired," he cracks.

Blackstone is the sole survivor of the great era of American magic that also produced such names as Houdini, Keller and Thurston. All mounted big shows that played theaters and vaudeville houses in the first few decades of this century. Blackstone was the last to leave the field.

"I quit eight years ago," he said. "I lost $35,000 one year $60,000 the next and $90,000 the next."

"I just couldn't buck television. People didn't want to pay $5.50 a seat to watch magic when they could stay at home for nothing and watch television and drink beer."

His 200 major tricks were put into storage in Hollywood, New York City, Philadelphia, York, Pa., and his longtime home at Colon, Mich.

Many are major productions; he figures his girl-in-levitation stunt cost $17,008 to conceive. Of late he has been selling the tricks to professional and amateur magicians—one famous Hollywood figure has bought several.

Blackstone timed those tricks to the split-second and cherished each one, yet he parts with them without regret. He looks cheerfully back on a life and career that were full and gratifying. He was infected with the magic virus in 1898, when he saw a performance of the great Keller in Chicago. The boy sneaked out his bedroom window to see the show again and his return was discovered by his father. When young Harry confessed where he had gone, his father said, "Why didn't you tell me? I'd have gone with you."

Father and son saw the show every night for a week, and Harry met Keller backstage. The trouper's advice on how to be a magician: "By using that part of your anatomy from your neck up."

Blackstone began in amateur shows, then was able to leave his steel foundry job for his first professional date: playing a St. Paul hotel with a brand-new movie, "The Great Train Robbery."

In his prime he traveled with a troupe of 37 and earned as much as $6,600 a day during a Norfolk date in the 1920s.

He lives with his cheery wife in a Hollywood apartment containing mementoes of his past. He often appears at the nearby Magic Castle, club for magic men and their guests, and will make appearances "for anyone foolish enough to hire me."

Beautiful Musical Evening Is Tradition in Melbourne

By STEVE LIBBY
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper
Wednesday evening is a beautifully musical evening in the Australian city of Melbourne. That's when the bell ringers practice their music in the tower of St. Paul's Cathedral as they have done for the past 72 years.

It's one of the best-loved of Melbourne traditions and it has been so since the bells were consecrated in 1891.

The bells of St. Paul's, 13 in number and weighing more than seven tons, are considered the largest peal of bells outside the British Isles.

Practice-time is each Wednesday for regular Sunday morning "performances" and for pealing at other religious holidays and festivals or to commemorate some special event.

dear to the hearts of the Australians in Victoria's capital city of two million souls.

However, people of Melbourne are destined to do without the St. Paul's chimes for almost a year. They'll be silent because they are being shipped back to England, where they were made, for a complete overhaul and refitting.

There'll still be the sound of bells in Melbourne, however. The Roman Catholic Cathedral of St. Patrick's will continue its pealing sounds.

These eight bells also have a long history. Cast in Dublin, they were installed 95 years ago, and its Cathedral Society of Bell Ringers was formed 10 years later.

In 1958, at the death of Pope Pius XII, St. Patrick's bells were pealed by a team from St. Paul's. And when recently the Ecumenical Council opened its sessions in Rome, the event was marked by a special change ringing of the St. Patrick's bells.

Other churches in the state of Victoria have peals, and the art of bell ringing has been revived in recent years with an influx of newcomers to Australia from Great Britain.

Anti-GOP Bill Dies in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Backers of Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr.'s 22-bill package of election law revisions that would have stamped out the state's young Republican party have conceded defeat.

The key bills won Senate approval after tough fights. But the House voted 60-50 Monday against a bill to require a party to hold conventions in half the precincts of a county, and in 30 counties to make the state convention valid.

Tuesday, the House voted 69-46 to postpone indefinitely consideration of a bill that would have required political parties to conduct primary elections. Both House and Senate are controlled by Democrats.

Johnson, also a Democrat, requested the laws after he had to wage a full-scale campaign to defeat Republican Rubel Phillips last November. Johnson got 225,456 votes to 138,515 for Phillips in the first serious GOP bid for the office since Reconstruction.

The Republicans charged that the bills would abolish general elections in Mississippi by making it virtually impossible for anyone other than a Democrat to get on the ballot.

Cleveland Books Talks in Trade Union Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Talks were scheduled in the mayor's office today between representatives of seven building trades unions and contractors in an effort to end a construction shutdown which is now in its fourth day.

Six of the seven striking unions have termed as unacceptable the 75-cent hourly wage and package accepted by 11 other unions. The seven union, plasterers, is demanding a union hiring hall. An estimated half of the area's 30,000 building tradesmen are idle because of the shutdown by contractors and home builders that began Monday.

CRIMSON DUKE — A new hybrid tea rose by Alan Meiland whose firm created the world famous Peace rose gives glorious rich, red exhibition blooms. One admirer said of it: "Built like a football guard and produces like a winner. Crimson Duke is a swashbuckler. It is available at nurseries and garden centers.

Hybrid Tea Favored in Rose Parade

Unlike many of the rose introductions of the past few years which have been on the delicate side, their colors even tending toward pale mauve and lavender, one of this year's top contenders for first place is a real he-man red — big, bold and boisterous.

The gardener who wants a rose that will grow into a rugged high bush, clothed with substantial glossy leaves and covered with showy blooms, will find Crimson Duke to his liking. Everything about it reflects its vigor and hardiness. In fact in the rose garden it is well to allow it somewhat more space than is accorded the average run of Hybrid Teas.

A serious fault of many big red roses, and especially of some recent introductions, is that they "die miserably," the petals fading to a displeasing carmine purple. Crimson Duke holds its royal color to the very end, half-open buds and fully opened flowers making a harmonious display in the rose bed, in flower arrangements, or as specimen blooms in competitive classes.

Any gardener who is interested in exhibiting roses at flower shows will certainly want to add Crimson Duke to his stable of prize-winners. Peace, the sword's record gold medal and blue ribbon winner, is one of the parents of Crimson Duke. Flowers, which are of exhibition quality, open up to five inches or so in diameter. As they are medium double — about thirty petals — they are best cut when fairly tight. The lasting quality is excellent — an important point with any exhibition rose.

Another feature of Crimson Duke which will make it a favorite with home gardeners is its generous autumn bloom. When cut back fairly hard after the June - early July flowering, it puts on an excellent autumn display, an extra dividend of fine buds and blooms lasting right up to hard frost which closes the show — until another year.

It is small wonder that Alain Meiland, whose firm created the world-famous rose Peace, feels that in Crimson Duke, he has achieved another triumph in rose breeding — a rose that experts and amateurs alike will want in their gardens.

Now the trowel is practically a symbol of gardening. But I say it is a rather worthless tool.

A trowel presupposes a loose workable soil. It is practically useless in any other kind of ground. About the only thing it's good for is to dig up seedling plants that are ready to transplant from a cold frame.

I use a cheap butcher knife for digging out weeds. The sharp tip of the knife will enter soil that is damp or hard. I have seen frustrated gardeners try to dig holes for bulbs with a trowel.

YES, the old hoe and rake are good usable tools. A sharp pocket knife for pruning off twigs and good clippers for heavier pruning are invaluable.

If you have these things you are in business and you can accomplish any task that an ordinary lady gardener is called upon to do.

Members of the ancient English cult of Druids gather near the Tower of London dressed in white robes and hoods to celebrate the arrival of spring. They join hands and scatter seeds, forsythia blooms, and cider on the ground to honor the sun.

Most Garden Tools Are Not Geared for Lady Workers

The truth of the matter is that garden tools for the most part are geared to please the man in the family.

Actually "the Mrs." does as much and often even more hard garden labor than her husband.

Some time honored garden tools simply are not easy for women to use. Let's take the plain old man's spade. One tiny bit of femininity complained tearfully to me: "I put my foot on the spade and push and nothing happens."

Well, if it's hard ground, what the lady needs is a mattock or digging tool. A lady

Annual Rose Festival Set June 20-28

Carol Channing, star of Broadway's hit play, "Hello Dolly," and Linda Felber, of Colfax, Wash., the newly named America's Junior Miss, will be guests of honor at the opening here of the 33rd annual Rose Festival, June 20-28, in Newark, N. Y.

Greetings from the New York World's Fair where the star rose of the Festival, the 1964 Rose of the Year, World's Fair Salute, is featured in two separate displays, will be brought by Lady Malcolm Douglas-Hamilton of the House of Good Taste Exhibit.

In addition a series of special events are scheduled for the two week festival which is expected to attract 200,000 visitors to the world famous Jackson & Perkins 17-acre rose garden.

Attendance is free both at the events and in the rose garden where more than 36,000 bushes are planted in mass displays and in small home-size gardens.

Summary of the week's events are: Saturday — formal opening; Sunday — ballet and coronation of the Queen; Monday — inspection of trial grounds and green houses by rose growers; Wednesday — annual Sterling Bowl Tournament (nation's top arrangers compete for $5,000 perpetual challenge trophy in a rose arranging contest); Saturday — National Amateur Rose show; Sunday — selection of 4-H Rose Queen.

New Rose Guide Now Available

The American Rose Society's 1964 Guide for Buying Roses is off press and is available to anyone sending a five-cent stamp requesting it.

As usual the Buying Guide contains the rating for most of the newer roses introduced into commerce during and prior to 1963 and many of the more popular, older varieties. General information about the height, color and fragrance is also given.

An added feature this year is a listing of all the new roses throughout the world that were registered with the American Rose Society in 1963 and are appearing in the 1964 American Rose Annual.

For the beginning rose grower, the leaflet "A Guide for Beginners" might be of interest and is also available for a five-cent stamp.

Garden Gossip

"Kozy" Kochheiser (Mrs. William Kochheiser) has been vacationing in Circleville at the Guest House this past week. Kozy thinks Circleville is lovely at lilac time. But of all the lilacs, she saw none was quite as beautiful as the one at Caroline Stevenson's on Route 2, Circleville.

Mrs. Kochheiser resides at Long Beach Key, Twin Shores, Sarasota, Fla. There were a couple of days of plain old hot weather last week. Mrs. Kochheiser says the difference is that you can always cool off in the ocean at Florida. We offered a swim in the farm pond, but she declined.

The lilacs at the Clarence Heffner place in Saltcreek Twp. were white and purple. They are old, old bushes and are higher than the porch roof. I would judge them easily at 20 feet tall and just about as wide.

A garden takes constant care. Neglect one for three or four years and you have no garden. Not many shrubs bear neglect. But lilacs seem to. Each year the big lilac bush blooms at the old Gildersleeve place now owned by Mrs. Lyman Penn.

Old fashioned snowball lives a long time, too. We transplanted ours when it was very old. It continues to thrive.

Mrs. Robert McCoy, Route 3, has a dark purple lilac with enormous heads of big florets that is just about the handsomest bloom we ever saw. It was in evidence at the recent flower show.

Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner, Route 2, has lilacs and tulips blooming now. She prefers continuous bloom to a seasonal garden. She just loves too many different kinds of flower to settle on one thing.

Theoretically at least, the garden editor believes in seasonal gardens. It's nice to make a big splurge for one season using all the space for flowers that bloom at one time. The rest of the time settle for a cutting garden.

It takes a super gardener to have color all seasons — and it takes a super horticulturist. Just off hand we'd say that Mrs. Donald Watt's garden is a remarkable example of all season color. After all, she specializes in daffodils, iris and daylilies.

Blooming shrubs have been at their best this year. Mrs. Leon Van Vliet, W. High St., has the old fashioned Bridal wreath. It pre-dated Spiraea Van Houttei by many years.

The garden encyclopedia has this shrub spelled "Spiraea." We were relieved to see that the dictionary accepts the other spelling which is "Spirea."

A funny mix up in common usage is this. Mock Orange has for generations been spoken of as Syringa. Actually lilacs are Syringa. And Mock Orange is classified as Philadelphus.

We have known this for a long time but to this day if anyone mentions Syringa, we immediately think of Mock Orange.

Mrs. C. K. Vaughan, 335 Wood Lane, does indeed have an azalea. But she is most interested in her named variety of iris which are beginning to bloom. As of last Friday her pink "Happy Birthday" was lovely. She was concerned about a storm just as the fragile iris were coming into season. Wind and rain can give iris blooms quite a beating.

It's the Forrest Thomasons at 333 Wood Lane that have the azaleas. They have a rhododendron in bloom, too. And Mrs. Thomason said her bleeding heart had been in bloom for a full three weeks.

Yes, you can bet that these plants get real care — the azaleas and rhododendron we mean. Mrs. Thomason says her husband gives them special food and fertilizer.

Mrs. John Starr, London, O. was not among those present at the recent meeting of District Nine of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs. Mrs. Starr is an arranger and a speaker of prominence. Where was she? Mrs. Starr has recently had her seventh child, a son this time. There are already six daughters. She was home taking care of the new baby.

The A. P. McCoards had a fragrant viburnum blooming when I stopped by the other morning. This shrub has a delightful aroma. The McCoards live at 952 Circle Drive.

Mrs. McCoard saw her first French anemone at the flower show the other day. She was very interested. French anemones come in all sorts of colors. They are not reliably hardy but I have better luck with a planted anemones than spring planted bulbs.

Anemones are inexpensive to try gambling with a few bulbs. They are in the market at some of the stores now. Wayside Gardens say to be sure and soak bulbs before planting.

The pink dogwood tree at the home of the William Collins, Beverly Road, put on a grand performance this spring. It has been planted four years and has bloomed before but never with such beauty. The blossoms were even a brighter pink.

The Emmitt Barnharts, Northridge Road, have a fine specimen of double flowering crab. It is the much loved Betchel's variety. Each blossom is like a perfect little pink rose.

Speaking of magical enchantment, the wisteria vine blooming on the Meinhardt Crites porch gives just that effect. A beautiful vine, beautifully used!

We have been watching those gum trees in front of the Crites' house with interest. They are very slow to leaf out. But they are going to make it, we think.

Gift Azalea Is Thriving At May Home

Mrs. Charles May, 225 S. Court St., has an azalea growing near her house that has been thriving for five years now. And that is something of a record for a Pickaway County Azalea.

It was given to Mrs. May by her son in Michigan. And it does indeed have special treatment. Peat moss and lots of it is worked into the soil surrounding the little bush each spring and it is given a dose of fertilizer each fall.

It has responded to this treatment by putting on a fine show each year since it has been in the May garden.

The plant is apparently perfectly hardy. It grows near the May house where the famous May Buckeye tree can provide shade for it.

THE AZALEA has yet to reach a height of 36 inches. But the dark pink blossoms are eye-catching and the plant maintains a healthy appearance.

Circleville youngsters love the buckeye tree at May's. And for several generations school children have stopped to pick up fallen buckeyes.

Mrs. May's garden is part of the original Circleville Mound. At one time there was extensive and beautiful planting here. But Mrs. May says that of late years the mound garden has been somewhat neglected.

Nonetheless in springtime at the corner of Mound and S. Court is always a pleasant sight because of blooming bulbs and fine old shrubs.

ious indeed about Russian gardens.

George Maxson near Laurelville spotted a deer one morning last week.

The tulips at the Post Office were lovely last week. The big old Ginkgo tree in the Post Office lawn is leafing out and is quite an excellent specimen. The government inherited that tree from the scheyers who formerly owned the property.

Vangie Campbell's alley is blue with aguja. This is a dandy May blooming ground cover and a charming border for a late blooming tulip display.

Norman Godden at Leistville is planning a new rose garden. If the roses are as successful as his magnificent lawn this will indeed be a rose garden. Mr. Godden says he does have a few dandelions. Mighty few we'd say!

The Paul Brown Insurance Agency has a fine specimen of the shrub known as Kerria. Ordinarily this shrub does not have great numbers of blooms. But this year it was just covered with it orange-yellow blossoms.

Evans Named Official of Rose Society

In April, Keister Evans Jr., joined the American Rose Society as executive secretary-editor.

Evans is a native of Pittsylvania County, Va., and was graduated from Virginia Polytechnic Institute in Blacksburg, Va., in June, 1961, with a BS degree in agricultural education.

He has almost completed his master's degree in the field of ornamental horticulture in which he is extremely interested.

Since June, 1961, Evans has been employed by the Virginia Polytechnic Institute Cooperative Extension Service. Because of his outstanding qualifications he was promoted to agricultural agent in 18 months, a promotion that usually is not achieved under three years.

He was the youngest agricultural agent in the state, being located in Newport News, Va., one of the fastest growing regions of the state.

Evans is married to the former Judith May Carson of Altavista, Va. Mrs. Evans is a 1963 graduate of Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia.

WHILE in college, she was a member of Mortar Board, a national honorary society, and was selected as a member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Before moving to Columbus, she was a member of the faculty of Warwick High School in Newport News, Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans are looking forward to their new life in "the World of Roses."

Brehmer Says

Very few of the present day varieties of Hydrangeas are winter hardy outdoors in our region. However, some may live over for a year or two if planted in a cold protected area.

Very few of today's Chrysanthemum plants will bloom outdoors for another year because the types forced for pot plants are not the varieties that bloom naturally in September and October.

Only a few years ago, Chrysanthemums were considered fall or early winter blooming. Now we have them the year round and your florist does it by manipulating the light — artificially lengthening the day with night lighting with electric lights or on the other hand by shortening the day in the long daylight period by covering the plants with black cloth during part of the day.

Do not hesitate to seek advice from your florist concerning the care of flowers and plants. He is interested in your getting the utmost pleasure from them.

BIS Conditions 'Deplorable'

Governor Studies Youth Panel Data

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has taken under study a report from the Ohio Youth Services Advisory Board which recommends "that the present existing deplorable conditions" at Boys Industrial School near Lancaster be remedied at once.

The board, appointed last November at the governor's request, described the school as an overcrowded human warehouse that "stores" delinquent youngsters because it lacks the staff and facilities to rehabilitate them.

The institution houses some 1,050 boys from 10 to 18 though it is designed for 600, the board says.

Among 29 major unsatisfactory conditions cited in the board's findings were:

—There are no fulltime physicians, psychologists or guidance counselors.

—Only 200 of the boys attend school because of the insufficient staff of only 10 teachers and in adequate facilities.

—The average case load per social worker is more than double the acceptable 50 wards per worker. Turnover is unusually heavy and salaries are unrealistically low.

The boards, which resulted from a study of methods used in other states to combat juvenile delinquency, proposed remedial action for each deficiency cited. It noted, however, that "there has been too much neglect for too long" to attain a sound institutional program immediately.

One of the top recommendations is that a crash program be undertaken at once to reduce BIS population to a maximum of 750 by acquiring unoccupied federal, state or school buildings to which some youngsters could be transferred.

Other major recommendations included immediate employment of three clinical psychologists, at least two research psychologists or sociologists, and one physician whose specialty is eye, ear, nose and throat.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Here is the official U. S. Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Cloudy skies, drizzle and rain showers prevailed over Ohio during the early morning hours as temperatures hovered near the 50-degree mark.

They ranged from 47 at Toledo and Findlay to 52 at Chesapeake, with Cleveland, Columbus and Youngstown, 49.

A large high pressure area extends from the Hudson Bay area southwestward to the Gulf Coast this morning and will dominate the Ohio weather for the next 24 to 36 hours. Cold air moving into the district and the state as a result of this high is being channeled down into temperatures tonight under clear skies will drop to the 30s over most of the state.

In some local low-lying areas, a chance of light frost is expected. Tomorrow, with fair skies, the temperatures will warm up somewhat and climb back into the high 60s and low 70s.

Stan Hywet Visit Is Worth Trip

If you are a gallivanting gardener, by all means plan to visit Stan Hywet in Akron.

It is a 65-room English Tudor mansion built by the rubber pioneer, Frank A. Seiberling. The mansion is now a center of civic, cultural and educational activities for Greater Akron.

Stan Hywet is furnished with authentic antiques and art treasures dating back to the 16th century and contains many momentos of America's period of great wealth which flourished at the turn of the century.

There are grounds for roaming and gardens for visiting. There is a courtyard and a carriage house now an auditorium.

THE GARDEN Forum of Greater Akron is responsible for planning and maintaining some of the gardens. The English garden, for instance, was planned and planted by dedicated garden club volunteers.

A spokesman at Stan Hywet assured me that the lady gardeners were competent and reliable and the gardens well cared for. The grounds there are in an incipient state.

Trees and shrubs that grew in the early part of the century need replacing. Old age, storms and inadequate care have taken their toll. But new trees and shrubs that fit into the overall restoration plan will be planted.

In fact May 25, has been set aside as "Planting Day." That's when the volunteer workers will show up early in the morning and stay all day planting the annuals in the borders and doing anything else necessary to put the gardens into shape for summer.

But for the gallivanting gardener in Pickaway County who is just going to visit, Stan Hywet May 20 might be a good day. It's the day of the World Garden Mart. Admission is free and everybody's welcome.

The Mart motto is "Buy All at the Mart." And you just about can buy anything you want from wigs to annuals by the flat. There's to be a flower show and a style show and even a hurdy gurdy man. There's to be a band concert and an antique show and sale, and interesting food from around the world will be sold.

Of if you choose to pick a quieter day, there are guided tours at Stan Hywet each Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. Group tours are available by special arrangement with the Stan Hywet office, 714 N. Portage Path, Akron 3, Ohio.

About 2,200 workers were idled.

Loveland Sets Its Tax Plans

Courts, Voters Still Hold Answer

LOVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The courts and voters permitting, Loveland plans to start collecting a one per cent income tax after July 1.

Since the new ordinance provides for a tax credit for taxes paid to other cities, chances are there won't be any court trouble. But opponents of the tax said immediately after the measure passed by a 5-2 Council vote that they would try and force another referendum.

Loveland adopted an income tax ordinance with no tax credit provisions in 1962, but the voters repealed it last year and a lawsuit growing from it is about to be appealed to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Town officials say the income tax is a must because Loveland has little industry and many resident work in Cincinnati, 20 miles away. Cincinnati collects a payroll tax from everyone who works there. The suburban towns have been trying to get a share of that money.

The lawsuit was started by Jack Thompson, a Loveland resident who claimed it was unlawful for both Cincinnati and Loveland to collect taxes from him. Thompson was upheld by the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court and the First District Court of Appeals.

Vernon Stiver, the city solicitor, says he did not expect these lower courts to go against an old state Supreme Court ruling. But he expects the high court to rule favorably on his appeal which will be filed soon—probably Monday.

Stiver said Wednesday night he also is hopeful about another tax suit he filed. This one involves the city of Columbus and the Ohio Legislature.

The Loveland attorney said he filed for a writ of mandamus from the Ohio Supreme Court in behalf of a taxpayer who feels that if Columbus taxes the income of non-residents, there is no reason why state lawmakers should be exempt.

Ohio Lawyers Eye Change In Courts

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The 84th annual meeting of the Ohio State Bar Association opens today, the main subject of interest being a proposal to reorganize the state court system.

Despite opposition from various lower court judges, the 76-member Council of Delegates was expected to consider the proposal. The committee is asking for a constitutional amendment to redefine the powers of the Ohio Supreme Court, courts of appeals and courts of common pleas.

Under the plan, common pleas courts would assume jurisdiction of the probate, juvenile, municipal, county, police, mayor's and other subordinate courts.

The proposal also asks for an appointive system of selecting judges, with a state judicial nominating commission recommending candidates for appointment by the governor.

Also, under the proposal, all judges would receive the same salary, whether appointed to serve in a densely or sparsely populated county.

Another feature is that judges would serve on rotation and assignment, thus placing them in various areas of the state according to demand. Proponents feel this would eliminate the delay in bringing a case to court after it has been prepared for trial by attorneys.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef and turkey are among star price performers at the nation's groceries this weekend. Both items are on the Department of Agriculture plentiful foods list for May, and many stores are featuring them at special prices.

One national chain offers oven-ready rib roasts at 59 cents a pound in its New York area outlets, for the lowest price it has charged for that since the summer of 1961.

Heavy marketings, which have kept beef on the plentiful list for six straight months, are continuing to affect prices.

Chuck roasts and steaks and serloin steaks are other features.

Turkey, with a large crop in prospect this year, is a widespread attraction. Some northeastern stores feature it at about 35 cents a pound.

Baking hens and broiler-fryers are also good poultry buys in many shops also.

Pork and lamb are regional attractions this weekend. West Coast wholesale prices are off as much as 2 cents a pound on both cured and fresh pork cuts. In the northeast, one chain offers fully cooked hams at a range starting at 29 cents a pound for shank ends.

Spring lamb roasts are ticked at 59 cents a pound at one chain.

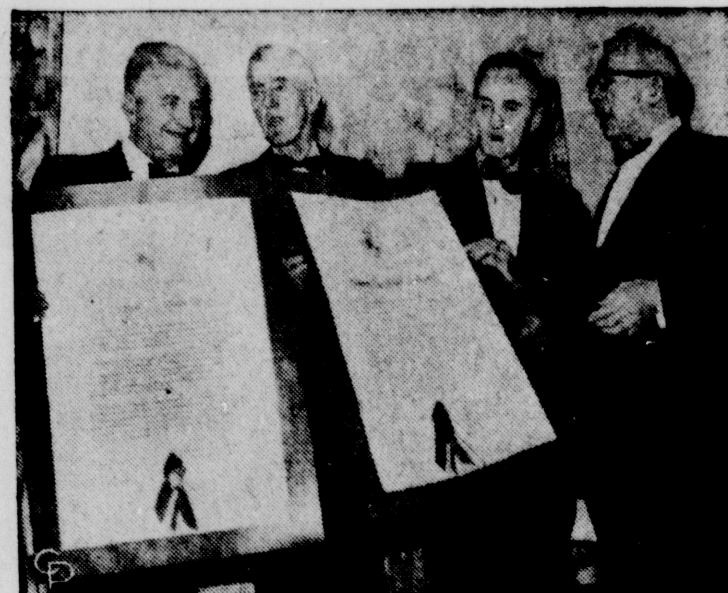

Produce counters, meanwhile, are replete with seasonal offerings. Lettuce, cabbage, celery, corn, green onions, potatoes and tomatoes are general best buys.

Regional vegetable attractions include asparagus, artichokes, peets, leeks, mushrooms, fresh corn, turnip greens, bell peppers, turnips, okra, squash and sweet potatoes.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — About every 18 months something happens to give Fidel Castro the miseries. It happened again on Wednesday and this time he got a double dose.

Brazil! broke relations with him. nd Cuban exiles, their organization reported, raided the port of Pilon in eastern Cuba, got ashore, burned a sugar mill, and then skipped back out to sea.

This was just about 18 months after the Cuban missile crisis, which was just about 18 months after the disastrous Bay of Pigs invasion.

In mid-April 1961, exiles, with American backing, invaded their homeland at the Bay of Pigs but Castro finally smashed them on the beach, to the great embarrassment of the United States.

This country had been willing to back them in getting to Cuba but was unwilling to support them when the going got rough. Never again has the United States tried anything like that.

But in October, 1962—about 18 months after the Bay of Pigs—Soviet Premier Khrushchev got the bright idea of shoving Russian missiles into Cuba, which was a big help to Castro but a great dismay to this country when it found out.

The American government, which caught on through its U2 planes' photographs of what was going on down in Castro's island, then told Khrushchev to get his missiles out, or else. He agreed to remove them.

This country and Russia also agreed that an international inspection team would go into Cuba to make sure the missiles were gone. But Castro wouldn't let such outsiders in.

So the United States did the next best thing. It kept sending its picture-taking U2's over at speeds of 500 miles an hour and elevations of 90,000 feet.

While Russia had removed its big missiles it left in Cuba a batch of troops with powerful anti-aircraft missiles which could have shot down the American U2's, but didn't.

Last month word leaked out the Russians were pulling out the last of their troops and just leaving behind several hundred advisers for Castro. This would mean turning the anti-aircraft missiles over to Castro. It raised a question.

Would Castro, now that he had control, shoot down the American U2's? President Johnson said the plane flights would continue. Castro called the flights aggressive action. Russia said it would back up Castro if he was attacked.

But the United States hadn't talked of attacking. And Castro didn't quite say he would shoot down the planes. So all that died down a bit.

Then began rumors that Cuban exiles—of whom there are thousands in this country—were getting ready to bang at Cuba again, not in big waves, as at the Bay of Pigs, but in small raids and harassments.

Since the United States long ago had told the exiles they could not make raids on their homeland from American land, it was to be assumed they were making their preparations in some Latin-American country.

Castro would hardly believe that and it did not seem unlikely they were getting American help. And Wednesday they hit and scrambled away again. Whether this was just a solitary attack or the first of a series is not clear.

The Cuban dictator immediately said this was a new act of aggression by the American government. A State Department official said it was nothing of the kind, that the United States knew nothing about it.

Meanwhile, this country has been trying through the years to line up the 20-nation Organization of American States solidly against Castro to freeze him out in some way or other never quite clear.

This has been something short of completely successful. For one thing, while most OAS members broke off relations with Castro these five refused to do so: Brazil, Mexico, Chile, Bolivia and Uruguay.

Brazil retained its relations so long as Joao Goulart was president. But last March the Brazilian army threw out the left-leaning Goulart and set up a right-wing government that began throwing Brazilian Communists into jail.

It was expected that now Brazil would break with Castro. And Wednesday it did.

But where all this leads—in stronger OAS action or exile raids—is for the future.

End Written To Chapter On Aviation

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—"This is a helluva way to lose weight."

With these words, Joan Merriam of Long Beach, Calif., wrote the end to a chapter of aviation history that began 27 years ago when aviatrix Amelia Earhart disappeared in the Pacific in her attempt to be the first woman to circle the globe by air.

Miss Merriam, 27, landed safely at Oakland International Airport Tuesday after a trouble-plagued 27,750-mile solo flight that traced most of the original route chartered by Miss Earhart in 1927.

The mechanical difficulties that troubled her twin-engine plane through most of the globe-circling flight remained to enlanger her until she landed at 9:12 a.m.

One of her engines began running rough while she was still 250 miles off the California coast and she required a Coast Guard plane escort into Oakland.

"I thought I'd never see Oakland again," she laughed as she stepped down from her plane to the congratulations of some 400 people.

Almost 2,000 miles of toll-free autobahns now exist in West Germany.

Ken Johnson Still Hurling Stingy Ball

Houston Defeats Giants 2-1; Mays Is Handcuffed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ken Johnson has given everyone the no-hit Willie again, including Mays.

Johnson, the hard-luck Houston right-hander who hadn't won in a month despite pitching a no-hitter, found the ball bouncing his way for a change Wednesday night and wound up the winner as the Colts made the most of two bad-hop hits in a 2-1 victory over National League leading San Francisco.

For six innings, Johnson was even better than he was April 23 when he set the Cincinnati Reds down without a hit but lost 1-0 on two errors in the ninth inning. This time, Johnson was leading 1-0 and working on a perfect game.

So perfect, in fact, that Willie Mays hadn't hit the ball fair in two trips to the plate, fouling out and striking out. Then, in the seventh, Jesus Alou smacked Johnson's first pitch for a double and Matty Alou followed with a single—bringing up Mays.

Mays, however, couldn't get it out of the infield this time either, hitting a grounder as Jesus Alou was trapped in a rundown between second and third. Johnson then got out of the jam and got a couple of breaks in the bottom of the inning.

With two out, a shot by Bob Aspromonte ricocheted past first baseman Orlando Cepeda for a double and Rusty Staub sent him to third by lining a drive that skipped past shortstop Jose Pagan. Ron Herbel came on in relief of Bob Hendley at this point and proceeded to wild-pitch the decisive run across.

Johnson left in the eighth, but eventually wound up with his first victory since April 18.

And Mays, faced with his first hitless performance since the third game of the season, eventually wound up with his only hit in four trips, singling off Hal Woodeshick in the ninth. That extended his hitting streak to 20 games, although his batting average dropped 10 points to .468.

Only one other National League game was played, the New York Mets defeating Milwaukee 5-2. Three games were rained out—Los Angeles at Chicago, St. Louis at Philadelphia and Cincinnati at Pittsburgh.

In American League action, the Chicago White Sox whipped Minnesota 5-1. Cleveland defeated Boston 3-0 in a game held to six innings by rain and in a two-nighter the Los Angeles Angels won the opener from Kansas City 9-0 before the A's took the nightcap 2-0.

The New York Yankees and Detroit were locked in a 1-1 tie after six innings when rain postponed their game. Baltimore and Washington also were washed out.

Johnson had nursed a 1-0 lead since Rusty Staub's homer put the Colts in front in the fourth inning. But he tired in the eighth when the Giants scored on a pinch-hit double by Duke Snider and Jesus Alou's single. That made the bad hop hits—originally ruled errors by the official scorer—decisive.

"Sure, I wanted to finish it," said Johnson after the game. "But I really didn't mind coming out. I'd put a lot into those pitches. You have to against this club. Those first six innings were as good as I've ever pitched."

Jesse Gonder's homer in the first inning got the Mets off to an early lead over the Braves and winning pitcher Jack Fisher drove in two more runs with a sacrifice fly and a double. Fisher pitched shutout ball for seven innings but needed Larry Bearnarth's relief help in the eighth.

Dave Nicholson hit a three-run homer and Pete Ward drove in two runs with a double for the White Sox while Juan Pizarro held the Twins to four hits. Pizarro, now 3-0, held the American League's leading hitter, Tony Oliva, hitless in four trips, lowering his average to .423, but lost his shutout when Bob Allison homered in the ninth.

Dick Donovan, who had to leave after he was hit by a pitch in the third inning, and Sonny Siebert combined to limit the Red Sox to two hits in the rain-shortened game at Cleveland.

Barry Latman pitched a seven-hitter for the Angels in the opener and Lee Thomas and Jim Fregosi each hit a homer and drove in three runs. In the Even Diehards Proclaim Willie Mays as 'Great'

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays has wiped out all remaining doubt concerning his place among the all-time baseball greats. He is the acknowledged king of center fielders today. There is hardly a dissenting voice.

Even the diehards among the veteran coterie, always loyal to their contemporaries, agree that the San Francisco Special rates high among the all-time great center fielders.

This was put into greater focus by Mays' tremendous getaway this season, a scorching start that promises to bring new and greater honors to the player who has been the heartbeat of the Giants through 12 brilliant seasons.

At his current pace, Willie, ever the spectacular fielder and base runner, threatens not only to become baseball's first 400-hitter in 23 years but has an outside chance to surpass the home run records of Babe Ruth and Roger Maris.

Septuagenarian Casey Stengel, who has seen all the great center fielders of the last 50 years, speaks of Mays in the same breath with Tris Speaker and Joe DiMaggio.

"I had Mickey Mantle," said Stengel, "but I've got to say who is better than Mays today?"

"Next to DiMaggio and Speaker, Mays has got to be the best center fielder and I've seen some 15 good ones. Fellows like Edd Roush, Max Carey, Terry

Joe Louis Feels Fine at Age of 50

NEW YORK (AP) — "How does it feel to be 50?" a man asked Joe Louis. He got a typical Louis answer.

"I don't know. This is the first time I've been 50."

The old Brown Bomber wasn't being a wise guy. He was in character. Just like the night he said "He can run, but he can't hide" before his second fight with Billy Conn after the war. "I feel pretty good," Louis said at a birthday party held appropriately enough on the 50th floor of a hotel in midtown. "If I feel half as good at 100 I'll feel fine."

"Billy Conn was the best man I ever fought. The fighters of those days — Jersey Joe Walcott, Jimmy Bivins, Abe Simon — about 15 of them could beat today's crop."

Of the present crop, Louis still rates Sonny Liston the best.

nightcap, Orlando Pena and John Wyatt collaborated on a four-hitter for the A's while Doc Edwards and Ed Charles drove in the runs off Bo Belinsky.

Kiwanis Horse Show Viewers To Pick Queen

Seven Candidates For Crown Named By Area Schools

Spectators at the Circleville Kiwanis Charity Horse Show, scheduled May 30 - 31 at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds, will have a double treat in store for them, according to Mrs. Norman Kutler, publicity director.

"Not only will they have the opportunity to see many fine show horses from Ohio and surrounding states go through their paces," Mrs. Kutler states, "they will have the opportunity to see and vote for their choice for the Horse Show Queen."

The campaign for queen is now in full swing. An organization at each school is managing the campaign for its representative.

Representing the schools are Janet Gerhardt, Williamsport; Sandra Shellhammer, Circleville; Page Miller, Logan Elm; Valley Miller, Teays Valley; Linda Sue Melvin, Jackson; Darlene Conley, Darby; Marquita Green, Monroe.

Candidates were selected not only for their beauty, Mrs. Kutler notes, but for scholastic and leadership ability as well. Participation in school and community activities is another consideration.

Persons attending the show will vote for the queen of their choice. Tickets have been distributed to the various schools and a strong competitive campaign for queen has begun.

CHS Booster Club Launches Birthday Calendar Project

Officers and members of the Circleville Booster Club are busy launching their first Community Birthday Calendar project.

The calendar sales program, designed as a fund raising effort on behalf of athletic activities at Circleville High School, is well under way. Booster president Bob Chapman said calendars are being composed now.

A new endeavor in this area, the project offers community residents the opportunity to have their names printed on the calendars. The names of those participating will be listed on the days of their birthdays or anniversaries.

Chapman said organizations may have their meeting dates and other special events listed.

PROCEEDS will be realized by the Booster Club through fees for listings, plus funds from sale of the calendars. The money will be utilized by the club to promote its many sports programs at CHS.

Chapman said the calendars will be printed to coincide with the next school year. Booster members have been assigned to make calls concerning listings and sales.

Chester Iery is serving as chairman of the calendar project. Blanks for listings will be published in The Herald on Friday.

Both Iery and Chapman noted today that the calendar project is a novel idea for this area. They expressed hope that many residents will participate and promote the program.

Initiation of the project has been discussed here for some time, the Booster officials said. The idea was given final approval when the club met last week at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Joe Pierce Sr., led Gulfstream Park trainers with 20 winners at the 1964 meeting. Arnold Winick had 18, Bud Lepman, 13.

Housewives End Their Pin Season

Members of the Housewives Bowling League held a Smorgasbord banquet Tuesday evening at Prairie Lanes, ending their Winter League of bowling.

Following the dinner Mrs. Julia Burton presided over the business meeting. The group voted to once again hold the league starting the week after Labor Day.

It was decided substitute bowlers will not be used next year. In absence of a regular bowler the team will use her previous game average and roll blind. A motion also was made that bowlers quitting anytime during the season would not be eligible for a trophy.

The group voted to award the prizes to the winners the same as previous year. Trophies will be awarded to the first, second, and third place teams, individual high series and individual high one game.

Officers elected for the new year were as follows: Mona Morrison, president; Julia Burton, secretary; and Pat Pontious, treasurer.

Trophies were awarded to the following teams: third, East End Market — Mona Lee Morrison, Betty Connell, Jane Kocher, and Marilyn Pangburn; second, Gloyd's Sohio — Joyce Gloyd, Dorothy Cook, Mary Harper, and Irene Harper; and first, Burton's Jewelers — Julia Burton, Rosie Glick, Jean McCoy, and Ruth Tustin. The first place team also was awarded sleeve emblems and a trophy from their sponsor.

Mona Lee Morrison received a trophy for high one game of 233 and Ruth Thompson for high three game series of 586. Ruth also received a pin from the association.

Also receiving trophies for last place was Williamson's Gulf — Jean Williamson, Ann Cromley, Becky Tosca, and Helen Hedges.

Helen Hedges, league secretary, presented Julia Burton with gifts from the league members in appreciation of the time and work involved with this years league.

Door prizes, donated by merchants, were awarded to the following: Phyllis Hines, Peg Speakman, Velma Purcell, Maxine Hoover, Pat Pontious, Ruth Thompson, Elinor Flier, Eleanor Moss, Rosie Glick, Clara Lou Stewart, Mary Bumgarner, Jean Williamson, Faye Leatherwood, Betty Connell, Pat Cline, Betty Neff, Isabelle Fisher, and Estella Mavis.

Committees in charge of arrangements were Dinner Committee: Judy Welsh, chairman, Margie Ankrom, Mary Harper, and Marilyn Pangburn; Awards Committee — Pat Pontious, chairman, Maxine Hoover, Clara Lou Stewart, and Clara Gregg; and Nominating Committee: Faye Leatherwood, chairman, Elaine Umstead, Rosie Glick, and Jean Williamson.

Texas Jackrabbit Routs Sentry Dog

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Southwesterners boast about the size and strength of jackrabbits like other people talk about big fish. At least one bunny turned battler.

A jackrabbit attacked a sentry dog guarding Sheppard Air Force Base here a few days ago. The marksmanship of the guard accompanying the dog broke up the fight.

Air base officials said they feared the bunny was rabid and had tests run. The reply today was "not rabid."

"Just a tough jackrabbit," commented an air base official.

Tribe Cuts Squad To Player Limit

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pitcher Jerry Walker, who came to the Cleveland Indians last year in the trade that sent Chuck Essegian to Kansas City, has been optioned on 24-hour recall to Jacksonville of the International League.

The Indians cut Walker Wednesday to get down to the 25-player limit. Actually, only 24 men are on the squad here. Paul Dicken is on the roster but is with the Indians' Charleston farm club.

FROGS are good bait. Best are ...

YOU CAN CATCH 'EM BY HAND, OR A NET IN GRASS AND WEEDS NEAR THE WATER. AT NIGHT, IF LOCAL LAWS PERMIT YOU CAN CATCH 'EM BY USING A FLASHLIGHT WHICH ATtracts THEM. KEEP THE FROGS IN A WOODEN CONTAINER, PARTLY SUBMERGED IN WATER.

HOOK THE FROG THROUGH BOTH LIPS OR THROUGH A LEG.

WHEN A FISH HITS, LET HIM SWALLOW THE FROG BEFORE YOU SET THE HOOK.

Logan Elm Edged, 9-8, By Piketon

Piketon exploded for seven runs in the fourth inning to post a 9-8 win over Logan Elm yesterday in a Scioto Valley Conference game on the losers diamond.

Trailing, 9-6, going into the final frame, the Braves scored twice. They had runners on second and third with two away, but couldn't come up with the key hit.

Harrison went all the way on the mound for the winners. He fanned seven, walked one and was touched for 11 hits, including a homerun by Bob Strawser and a double by Jeff Lutz. Lutz was three-for-four at the plate while Arnie Gabriel was two-for-four.

Jim Hicks started on the mound for the Logan Elm unit. At the end of 3 1-3 innings, he had fanned three, walked one and allowed eight hits.

LUTZ finished fanning four and allowing two hits. After the fatal fourth, Lutz retired the last nine batters in order.

Overall Logan Elm is 5-7. In the Scioto Valley Conference they have lost all three games played.

Piketon has a 1-1 league slate while Paint Valley, is undefeated, is the conference champ.

Tonight the Braves host Monroe in a Pickaway County League game.

Nocturnal Fare Liked by Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Who likes night baseball? The Cleveland Indians, that's who.

The Indians have won 10 of 11 night contests so far under the lights, but have won only four of 12 day games. The only nocturnal defeat came at the hands of the New York Yankees, who had the Indians pretty much in the dark during their four-game series here last week.

The Indians won three night games in a row from the Boston Red Sox, completing the series sweep with a rain-shortened 3-0 victory Wednesday night.

Veteran righthander Dick

Donovan and rookie Sonny Siebert teamed up to shut out the Red Sox on two hits over six innings. The only hit off Donovan before he was hit on his pitching hand by a pitched ball in the third was a single by Eddie Bressoud. Bressoud now has hit safely in 23 of Boston's 24 games.

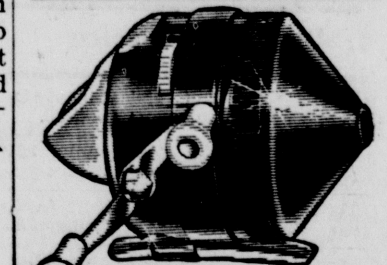

Bob Tillman's sixth-inning single was the only hit off the 27-year-old Siebert, also a right-hander.

The Indians got all the margin they needed in the first inning, when they scored one run on two hits. Dick Howser, who has hit safely in 12 straight games, led off with a single and stole second. He reached third on Larry Brown's infield out and scored on Fred Whitfield's double.

News of World in Brief

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Robert H. Benson got more than he bargained for in municipal court. He was arrested in court Wednesday and charged with helping rob a savings association branch. Benson, 28, of Akron, was in court on an assault and battery charge.

Also charged with participating in the $2,978 robbery Tuesday of the Wooster - Hawkins Shopping Center branch of the Evans Savings Association was Basil Wingrove, 40, of Clearwater, Fla.

MANILA (AP)—Pfc. William B. Taylor of Cincinnati, one of nine survivors of Monday's jet transport crash at Clark Air Base in which 77 persons died, was still listed in serious condition today. Taylor was a passenger in a taxicab the plane hit as it came down.

Taylor and three other survivors were still listed as serious, an air force spokesman said, "but barring unforeseen complications they should pull through."

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—This could be called an embarrassing moment.

A representative of the Sears-Roebuck Foundation was on hand here to present trophies, on behalf of the foundation, to top rated students who are participating in a high-school cooperative arrangement whereby they both work and attend school.

When the winners were announced, first place went to a student who works in a Montgomery Ward store, one of Sears' top competitors. Second and third places went to students who work in a J. C. Penney store and a W. T. Grant store—also chain retail outlets.

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—The president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, W. Braddock Hickman, says he feels the economy now is "stronger than I would have thought possible if I had been making a forecast six months, or even three months ago."

And he told 150 bankers, businessmen and industrialists at a meeting here Wednesday night all signs point to "many months of good business still ahead."

NEW YORK (AP)—Wealthy manufacturer Louis Ridd has won a court decree clearing his name after 37 years.

Rudd, 62, broke into tears Wednesday as U.S. Dist. Judge Jacob Mishler set aside a 1927 mail fraud conviction for which Rudd served a year in jail. He also dismissed the indictment.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert Kraft told the judge that records in his office supported Rudd's claim of innocence.

Rudd, then a young lawyer, had been found guilty of conspiracy to defraud insurance companies in accident cases. He insisted false accident claims were rigged by his law clerk.

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—A white youth has admitted his story that two Negroes slashed him repeatedly with razor blades was a hoax to help him get out of attending Hofstra University.

James Kelly, Nassau County police commissioner, said Wednesday that John F. Jadowski, 18, confessed he inflicted the wounds on himself because he was "bored with school."

Jadowski, a Hofstra freshman who lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Jadowski in Westbury on Long Island, said in a signed statement: "I knew my parents wanted me to go (to school) and I didn't want to disappoint them by quitting overnight."

He was charged with making a false report to police and was released in $500 bail. Conviction could bring a year in jail.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Visitors to one of the Soviet Union's newest hotels better bring their own wash basin stoppers and a little extra plumbing.

At least that was the experience of Dr. Leland J. Haworth, director of the National Science Foundation.

Haworth and some traveling companions were the first guests in a new hotel in Dubna, near Moscow.

"We were told," he related in congressional testimony made public today, "that if we wanted water in a tub or basin, we should take sink stoppers."

They got the stoppers, used the wash basin and jerked out the stoppers.

"The water went all over the floor," Haworth said. "The pipe ended without connecting to the pipe below it."

WASHINGTON (AP)—American astronauts who go to the moon will pack along $60,000 suits.

That was the estimate of cost by officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in congressional testimony made public today.

The average cost per space suit includes research and development.

The astronauts will spend their travel time in "shirt sleeves" environment in their capsule. They will put the space suits on for their visit to the moon.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The president of the National Retail Merchants Association predicts U.S. retailers will sell nearly $260-billion worth of goods this year, an all-time high.

Carl N. Schmalz, who also is president of the R. H. Stearns Co. of Boston, said Wednesday at a luncheon this would represent more than a 5-per cent increase over last year's record $246.3 billion.

He spoke at a luncheon sponsored by the Retail Merchants Association of Houston and the Texas Retail Federation.

PANAMA (AP)—Handbills circulated in Panama City Wednesday night charging fraud in the presidential election and calling for a general strike.

The unsigned leaflets reported a charge by supporters of ex-President Arnulfo Arias that returns had been rigged in Sunday's vote to elect government candidate Marco Robles.

The National Electoral Tribunal announced Wednesday night final returns gave Robles 134,627 votes and Arias 123,186.

There was no public response Wednesday night to the anonymous strike call. The National Guard remained on the alert and searched cars of Arias supporters, apparently for arms.

TOKYO (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev proposed today that Japan and the Soviet Union join in calling on all nuclear nations to stop underground nuclear tests immediately.

The proposal was made in a letter delivered to Premier Hayato Ikeda by Soviet First Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan shortly after his arrival for a 14-day visit.

Khrushchev pointed out that international tensions have slackened with the limited nuclear test ban, the U.S.-Soviet agreement not to shoot nuclear weapons into orbit, and the recent decision by the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain to reduce production of nuclear materials for armaments.

PEABODY, Mass. (AP)—Three men were known dead, and at least four others were injured today when an explosion followed by fire wrecked a tannery near the center of the city.

The bodies of three workmen were found on the first floor of the Gnecco and Grilk Tanning Corp. plant ever as fire roared through the six-story building.

MOSCOW (AP)—The government newspaper Izvestia criticized Soviet factories Wednesday night for putting so many of their products in unattractive wrappings.

For example:
1. Candy in wrappers showing two chickens fighting over a worm.

2. Wrist watches in boxes with decorations similar to those on insect powder containers.

"To sell under conditions of shortages is easy," said Izvestia, "but now we have more and more goods and it is clear to us that selling today is not a simple business."

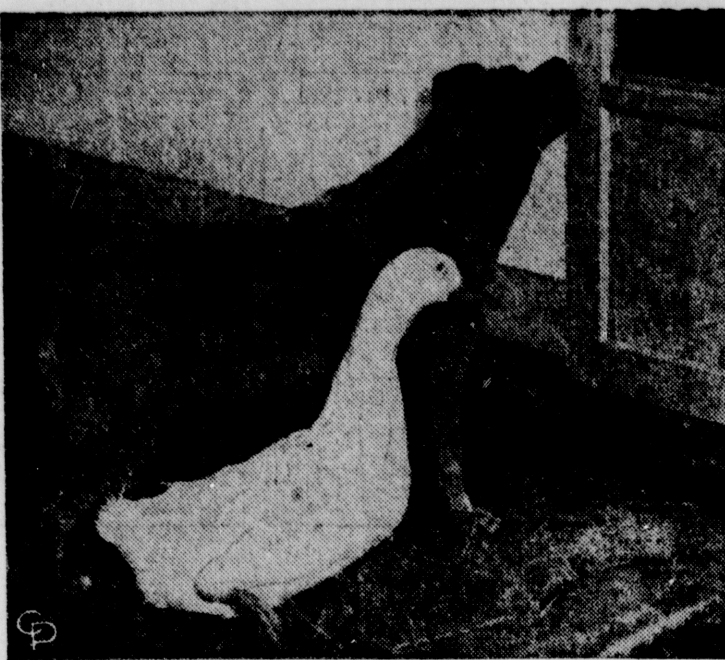

UNDEFFECTED — Returned to the West by the Soviets, U.S. Army Capt. Alfred Svenson (above), 31, Scranton, Pa., the only American officer to defect to the Communists in Europe since World War II, will be court-martialed for desertion and possibly for betraying secrets, informed sources say in Heidelberg, Germany.

Human Relations Award Given Slain Minister

HAMDEN, Conn. (AP)—The Human Relations Council of Greater New Haven presented its annual award posthumously Wednesday night to the Rev. Bruce Klunder, who was crushed beneath a bulldozer last month while participating in a civil rights demonstration in Cleveland.

Yale University chaplain, the Rev. William Sloane Coffin, said in presenting the award: "He didn't seek to be a martyr. He felt deeply the indignity of inequality."

Copper and iron pyrites are major exports from Cyprus.

DUCKING IN FOR A HANDOUT—Ginger (left) and Charley wait at back door of the Robert Greenlee home near Fostoria, O., for handout. Charley, 2, lost his mate and ever since he has followed Ginger around, never letting her out of his sight.

Stolen Mail Boxes Are Recovered

Mail boxes belonging to Hon. or Smith and Howard Rhoads, both of Route 1, Kingston, were recovered early today by Deputy Sheriff Gene Kerns.

Deputy Kerns said Hoyt Timmons discovered the Smith mailbox in Scippo Creek near the Kingston Pike.

He found Rhoads' box near a bridge at another stream on the same road. The mail containers were taken during the weekend.

Three Youngsters On Treated List
